THOMAS DUNAKER APPOINTED NEW CFO FOR GANT

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

August 28, 2018; Stockholm, Sweden

GANT AB is pleased to announce the appointment of Thomas Dunaker as the new Chief Financial Officer, effective immediately. Dunaker has been appointed from within and will report to CEO Brian Grevy.

Thomas Dunaker has been named the new CFO for GANT AB. He joined the company in February 2018 as Global Head of Commercial Finance and Group Business Control and has held the position of interim CFO since June 2018.

“With his result and service-oriented mindset, extensive operational knowledge, and strong leadership skills, I am confident that Thomas is the right person to lead the finance team and be part of taking GANT to the next level”, says Brian Grevy, CEO.

Dunaker has over 20 years of leading financial experience including change management and building global teams. Since joining GANT he has been a key player and a great asset to the financial team.

“I’m excited to take on this new role,” says Dunaker. “GANT is a well established global brand with tremendous heritage and great growth potential. I am looking forward to working with the team to further strengthen the company.”

Prior to joining GANT, Dunaker held the position of CFO for Scandinavian fashion retailer JC. He succeeds Pär Christiansen who left the company in June this year.
